The Manchuria Invasion

Japan over China (1931-32)
The Manchuria Invasion - 1931 / 1932

Task 1: Number statements into a sensible order  Task 2: Colour code (A) Causes (B) How League failed (C) Why failed (D) Effects.

1. The Manchuria invasion encouraged other countries to act without fear of League action - countries such as Britain acted out of self not collective interest.
2. Japan was also crowded with an increasing population. Manchuria was almost 200,000 square kilometers – more than enough to home a growing population.
3. Manchuria was rich in resources - minerals, forest and lands. The Depression had meant less trade so Manchuria offered a good opportunity to grab resources.
4. The Depression hit Japan hard. The government found that it had no solutions to the problems created by the depression - the army took control.
5. At China’s request the League ordered the Japanese to withdraw - the army did not listen and instead invaded the rest of Manchuria by the end of 1931.
6. The Chinese had a very low opinion of the Chinese (Manchuria was part of China) and saw them as inferior and even subhuman.
7. The League decided to send Lord Lytton to investigate - it was painfully slow and after almost a year the ‘Lytton Report’ concluded Japan should leave.
8. The League also lost its most powerful member in the Far East—later Japan would join forces with Germany and Italy.
9. Britain did not want to lose trade with Japan, a major trade partner and Britain was also worried about her Far East colonies (Hong Kong and Singapore).
10. Many of the League members were also more focussed on dealing with their own problems not solving those in a far away land - they did not want conflict.
11. The League had 2 main options - the first, a warning had no effect. The second, economic or trade sanctions were considered.
12. Japan ignored the report - this showed that the League was powerless to deal with larger nations that ignored its rulings.
13. The Mukden Incident: an explosion on the South Manchuria Railway gave the army the excuse it needed to blame Manchuria and to invade.
14. The Depression hit Japan hard. The government found that it had no solutions to the problems created by the depression - the army took control.
